

THE KANGAROO TELLS THIS

He Has Jumped a Long Ways to Get Here With Mr. Noah and Visit With Boys and Girls Who Read The Day Book.

Next time you go to a circus, stand by my cage until I move. Then you will see I have a funny way of getting around. My hind you play leap frog, see if you can jump so far. My claws are sharp so that I can take hold of branches. My tail is strong. I use it as a balance when I sit down.

My fur is short and soft and of a reddish color. My head is formed like that of a deer. I have large eyes, and quite large ears.

We kangaroos live together in troops. There are many kinds of kangaroos.

Everybody knows about my pouch. It is an open pocket on the under side of my body. In this I carry my babies, because when they are first born they are too little to care for themselves.

Hop! hop hop! See me hop!

IN THE LIMELIGHT

Arthur I. Vorys, that astute politician of Ohio, has no all-absorbing ambition to have his name go thundering down the annals of time as a great statesman. He would much rather hold the reins of the republican machine in Ohio, and maintain a reserved seat in the national band wagon. That's one legs are very long and strong. I use these for hopping and leaping about.

My fore legs are very short. Sometimes I leap 20 feet. When reason why he is going to be worth watching during the 1912 campaign. Also he's the G. O. P. national committee from the president's state.

